MIT China Care is a student run club at Massachusetts Institute of Technology (MIT) as well as a recognized China Care Club under the national China Care Foundation, Inc. (www.chinacare.org) Founded in 2007, our club’s goal is to help Chinese orphans and adopted Chinese children in need. We hope to create opportunities for MIT students to make a difference locally, through our playgroup program, and globally, through fundraisers for surgeries that save and improve the lives of Chinese orphans.

Throughout the year we organize fundraisers to finance surgeries for the Chinese orphans in China. These children in need are listed on the China Care Foundation’s How You Can Help page. Locally, we invite adopted Chinese orphans and their families from the Boston and Cambridge area to experience different Chinese cultural activities. We aim to help adopted Chinese orphans build bonds with their birth country, as well as foster a sense of community among their adoptive families and offer support.

In the past, we held “Playgroup Dates” during which we had adopted Chinese orphans and their families make simple Chinese arts and crafts and enjoy traditional Chinese foods. Additionally, we held bake sales to fund medical operations for needy orphans in China. Last year, we raised $500 that enabled a young orphaned girl in China to undergo cleft lip surgery.

We hope to:
- Fund summer traveling to China, where MIT students will live and volunteer in orphanages.
- Establish contact with the local Boston/Cambridge community to promote our cause and generate ideas or funds for events.
- Invite professional speakers to give talks at MIT about the issues Chinese orphans face and the difficulties after adoption.

In addition, we are always looking for Chinese restaurants who are willing to subsidize catering costs during our special events. We hope that such kind gestures will benefit both parties by providing good publicity for the restaurant and creating a positive image.
